Zakir Hussain as Neelum Chaudhry Darshan Jariwala as "Uddu" Suna Walia as Preeti(Jodha) Soha Ali Butt as Laila Sachin Johangir as Faizan / Ammad Aurjeet Jani as Resham (Mina and Resham's daughter) Parveen Kaur as Mulki / Moharib Shafqat Cheema as Nasir Shah Zada as Farhan (Takkar) Ghazala Qureshi as Sahira Sarwat Gulzar as Arsh Harjeet Gill as Zeb Deep Dhillon as Darpan Sahir Ludhiani as Akbar The leading cast was officially announced on 30 December 2015. Director The director of the movie was Abro Wadiwa, who directed Kashmiri Shah's Tezaab (2014) before. He worked with Kashmiri Shah in other two movies; namely, Khudgarz: The Game of Love and Revenge and Paris Express. Kashmiri Shah has claimed that she was against the idea of her directing Kashmiri Shah's own film and he agreed to direct because he got a higher fee in the original offer. Shah said, "The script was very detailed, and he (Wadiwa) has had such a knowledge of the book (Kashmira's book) that he understood what the characters were saying and what was being conveyed". Box office Critical reception Mehreen Iqbal of The Express Tribune gave the film 4 stars out of 5 and stated that Kashmiri Shah "has dealt with this situation on screen with freshness, verve and ease". She also praised Ali Zafar for his performance. Avreen Sultan of Pakistan Today gave the film 3 stars out of 5 and said that Kashmiri Shah has managed to capture the essence of the book and "Kashmira Shah directs her own film with all the perfection".
